LOS ANGELES COUNTY ARTS EDUCATION COLLECTIVE

The Los Angeles County Arts Education Collective is a countywide public-private initiative dedicated to making the arts part of every child's growth and development.

In 2002, the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors launched the Los Angeles County Arts Education Collective (Arts Ed Collective) as a regional effort to restore the arts in public education. The Arts Ed Collective is coordinated by the Los Angeles County Department of Arts and Culture (Arts and Culture), implemented in partnership with the LA County Office of Education (LACOE), and is recognized as a national model of collective impact in arts education. Starting with just one school district in each Supervisorial District nearly two decades ago, the Arts Ed Collective now includes a robust coalition of partners representing more than 76 school districts, 5 charter school networks and hundreds of community-based arts organizations, teaching artists, educators, philanthropists, and advocates. Partners all work toward the shared goal that every young person in LA County engages in the arts all year, every year, because the arts are fundamental to human growth and development. The Countywide initiative is guided by a Leadership Circle and a Funders Council who continue to invest in this formidable movement for arts education across the region.

ARTS FOR ALL CHILDREN, YOUTH, AND FAMILIES: LOS ANGELES COUNTY'S NEW REGIONAL BLUEPRINT FOR ARTS EDUCATION

In 2020, the Board of Supervisors adopted Los Angeles County's New Regional Blueprint for Arts Education (Arts Ed Blueprint) which sets forth ambitious goals for increasing youth access to the arts. The Arts Ed Blueprint outlines strategies for advancing:

- arts instruction for all students, across all grade levels, in all public schools;
- expanded opportunities for arts education after school;
- year-round community-based arts learning;
- access to careers in the creative economy;
- arts-based programs and services, provided in collaboration with multiple County departments, that support children, youth and families; and
- a prioritization of historically underserved populations.

Despite the many positive benefits of the arts on child and youth development – including improved academic achievement, school attendance, engagement, sense of identity, self-esteem, creativity, critical thinking, and problem-solving abilities – there remain long-standing systemic barriers to accessing arts education and cultural resources, particularly for historically underserved communities, English-language learners, and youth of color. To address these disparities and to promote cultural and racial equity, the new Arts Ed Blueprint centers access and equity and prioritizes historically underserved youth, schools, and communities.

The Arts Ed Blueprint sets new targets for achieving scale, equity, and quality in arts education – in school, after school and in communities:

Scale - Every young person in every neighborhood has year-round opportunities for learning in and through the arts in school, after school, and in their community.

Equity - Every young person, regardless of race, culture, language, income, religion, national origin, legal status, place of residence, gender identity, LGBTQ+ status, or ability, receives high-quality, culturally sustaining arts education. Young people who have been historically excluded or precluded from learning in the arts receive priority for the resources and investments required to meet their needs.

Within the context of the Arts Ed Blueprint, the terms historically underserved and historically excluded or precluded are defined as specific groups of people who, over many years in the past which may extend into the present, have been denied or prevented from accessing resources or opportunities by institutions, systems, and/or dominant power structures. This may include Black, Indigenous, and other youth of color, current or former foster youth, as well as youth who are currently or formerly homeless, impacted by the justice system, LGBTQ+, migrants, English language learners, living in poverty, in rural areas, and/or with disabilities. This term can also apply to schools, neighborhoods, and communities with high proportions of people who have been historically excluded or precluded.

Quality - Arts instruction is thoughtfully and intentionally designed to:

- build artistic, technical, and creative skills;
- encompass a variety of art forms and genres;
- connect arts learning to other areas of study, growth, and development;
- reflect the culture, language and heritage of the learner;
- introduce the learner to the cultures, languages and heritages of others;
- expose young people to creative careers; and
- recognize the region's rich cultural diversity.

Culturally Relevant, Responsive, and Sustaining Instruction

- Asset-based teaching practices that view diversity in thought, culture, and traits as strengths. Instruction is designed to accept and affirm the backgrounds of students of color (Culturally Relevant); connect to students' cultural knowledge, prior experiences, and frames of reference (Culturally Responsive); and sustain cultural ways of being in communities of color while supporting students to critique dominant power structures in society (Culturally Sustaining).¹

In-School Arts Education - Learning in the arts takes place during the school day as part of an integrated or discrete, sequential arts curriculum.

After-School Arts Education - Learning in the arts takes place outside of school hours, either on a school campus or for youth who are part of a specific school community, and intentionally augments or deepens in-school arts education.

THE GOALS OF THE ADVANCEMENT GRANT

The Advancement Grant offers financial support to Los Angeles County school districts working to provide quality arts education to all students. The goals of the grant are to:

- assist school districts in achieving key action items in their strategic plans for arts education that are aligned with the goals and targets of the Arts Ed Blueprint
- generate resources, practices, skills, or knowledge that will be sustained beyond the term of the grant
- direct resources and investments into historically underserved communities to increase learning in the arts for youth who continue to face structural and systemic barriers to high quality, culturally sustaining arts education

REVIEW AND SCORING CRITERIA

Applications will be reviewed and scored by a peer panel of experienced arts and education professionals that may include district administrators, community arts partners, funders, and arts educators.

Each section of the application addresses items from one of the criteria below. Applications will be scored according to the following:

Criterion 1: STRATEGIC DIRECTION (35 points maximum)

Arts education goal(s) for the upcoming year are described in detail and are included in an active district plan such as the Strategic Plan for Arts Education or the Local Control Accountability Plan and align with the Arts Ed Blueprint. All district plan(s) are clearly cited. There is a compelling justification of why this is the right time to focus on this aspect of the district's arts plan, how this project builds upon past successes, and how it moves the district towards providing arts education for all students – and particularly those who have been historically and systematically excluded or precluded. It is clear how the project will initiate or expand arts education in the district. The proposed project is clearly aimed at generating resources, practices, skills, or knowledge that will be sustained beyond the term of the grant.

Criterion 2: QUALITY OF PROJECT PLAN (30 points maximum)

The project is thoughtfully designed. The project plan identifies specific activities that can be realistically accomplished with the designated resources and timeline. The project plan proposes specific tactics to support young people who have been historically and systematically excluded or precluded from participation in arts learning in ways that are culturally relevant, and responsive to the students to be served.

Criterion 3: QUALITY OF PROJECT EVALUATION (10 points maximum)

The project has measurable goals and an appropriate evaluation methodology in place that uses qualitative and quantitative data to assess changes in the scale, quality, or equity of arts instruction provided in the school district.

Criterion 4: PERSONNEL CAPACITY (15 points maximum)

Professional staff are in place to manage and implement the project. There is evidence of support from multiple levels of district leadership. Staff or community partners providing student instruction or professional development for educators have demonstrated capacity to engage participants in diverse and culturally responsive learning experiences. The roles and responsibilities of the staff, district administration, and proposed partners are clearly defined.

Criterion 5: FISCAL CAPACITY (10 points maximum)

Project expenses are clearly described and calculated accurately. Specific activities have been appropriately budgeted. A minimum of one-to-one matching funds are committed and identified.

Priority Point Area 1: STUDENT POPULATION (16 points maximum)

Districts serving large student populations will earn priority points for supplemental funding as follows:

- Enrollment of 10,000 – 19,999 = 8 priority points
- Enrollment of 20,000 or greater = 16 priority points

Priority Point Area 2: UNDUPLICATED PUPIL COUNT (16 points maximum)

Districts with a high percentage of students in the Unduplicated Pupil Count will earn priority points for supplemental funding as follows:

- Unduplicated Pupil Count of 72 – 85.9% = 8 priority points
- Unduplicated Pupil Count of 86 % or greater = 16 priority points

TOTAL POSSIBLE POINTS = 132*

* Scores over 100 may receive an award less than or equal to the funding request, based on available funding each year

HOW THE ARTS ED COLLECTIVE SUPPORTS SCHOOL DISTRICTS

The Arts Ed Collective offers a continuum of services to school districts to help build infrastructure that allows all students to receive arts education as a core part of a well-rounded education.

Coaching for Strategic Planning: Coaching is provided to school districts to create or update five-year strategic plans for sustaining long-term, district-wide arts education, including planning for the use of increased arts education funding from Proposition 28 (The Arts and Music in Schools Funding Guarantee and Accountability Act) and district-identified goals aligned with the LA County Regional Blueprint for Arts Education. Applications for coaching support during the upcoming school year are available at lacountyartsedcollective.org/initiatives/school-based-arts-education/strategic-plan-coach.

Coaching for District Arts Coordination: Once the local school board approves the strategic plan, a year of coaching is available to help build the capacity of the arts committee and district staff to coordinate and manage successful implementation of the plan. School districts completing strategic plans this spring will be offered another year of coaching. School districts with new staff assigned to arts coordination for the upcoming school year may also request a coach.

Countywide Network: Ongoing support for arts coordinators and district arts committee members is available through a countywide network of leaders and practitioners who convene regularly to learn and collaborate. Events can be found at lacountyartsedcollective.org/initiatives/school-district-support/school-district-arts-coordinator-network.

Arts Ed Profile: The LA County Arts Ed Profile online tool allows teachers, parents, administrators, policymakers, funders, and others to find data about arts education provided by LA County public schools. The Arts Ed Profile Report 2015-18 provides key recommendations for addressing quantity, quality, and equity of arts education. The online tool and report are available at lacountyartsedcollective.org/research-evaluation/arts-ed-profile.

Funding for Implementation (Advancement Grants): School districts in partnership with the Arts Ed Collective that have school board-adopted strategic plans for arts education are eligible to apply for grant funding. These matching grants help districts initiate or expand strategies that increase and improve arts education in their district.

Technology Enhanced Arts Learning (TEAL): Developed and implemented as a partnership between the Department of Arts and Culture and LACOE's Center for Distance and Online Learning, TEAL provides TK-6 educators with online resources focused on integrating the arts and social-emotional learning (SEL) into the teaching of other core subjects (e.g., language arts, math, science, social studies). Get started at tealarts.lacoe.edu.

Contact Arts and Culture for assistance in considering your entry point for participation in Arts Ed Collective services for the upcoming school year.
